

A World of Possibilities

Maryland Book Bank | 2018 Annual Report

Dear Friends of the Book Bank,

If you train your eyes to look for possibilities, you can find them everywhere. In the well-loved books our patrons donate. In the truckloads of books that arrive from publishers at our loading dock. In the volunteer groups who carefully sort and package our stock. In the stories and characters on the pages. In the wide eyes, big smiles and armfuls of books on the Bookmobile. In the teachers who meet us on the sidewalk, just as excited as their students. In the child care providers browsing our shelves. Because of the support of individuals and community partners like you, the Maryland Book Bank is truly home to a world of possibilities.

This was an exceptional year for the Book Bank, and in turn, for the people and partners we serve. We moved into a bigger and better warehouse facility. We put more books into more hands than ever before. We forged new partnerships, reached new schools and community hubs and tapped into new sources of funding to keep the momentum going. We're excited to give you a glimpse of our year in this report.

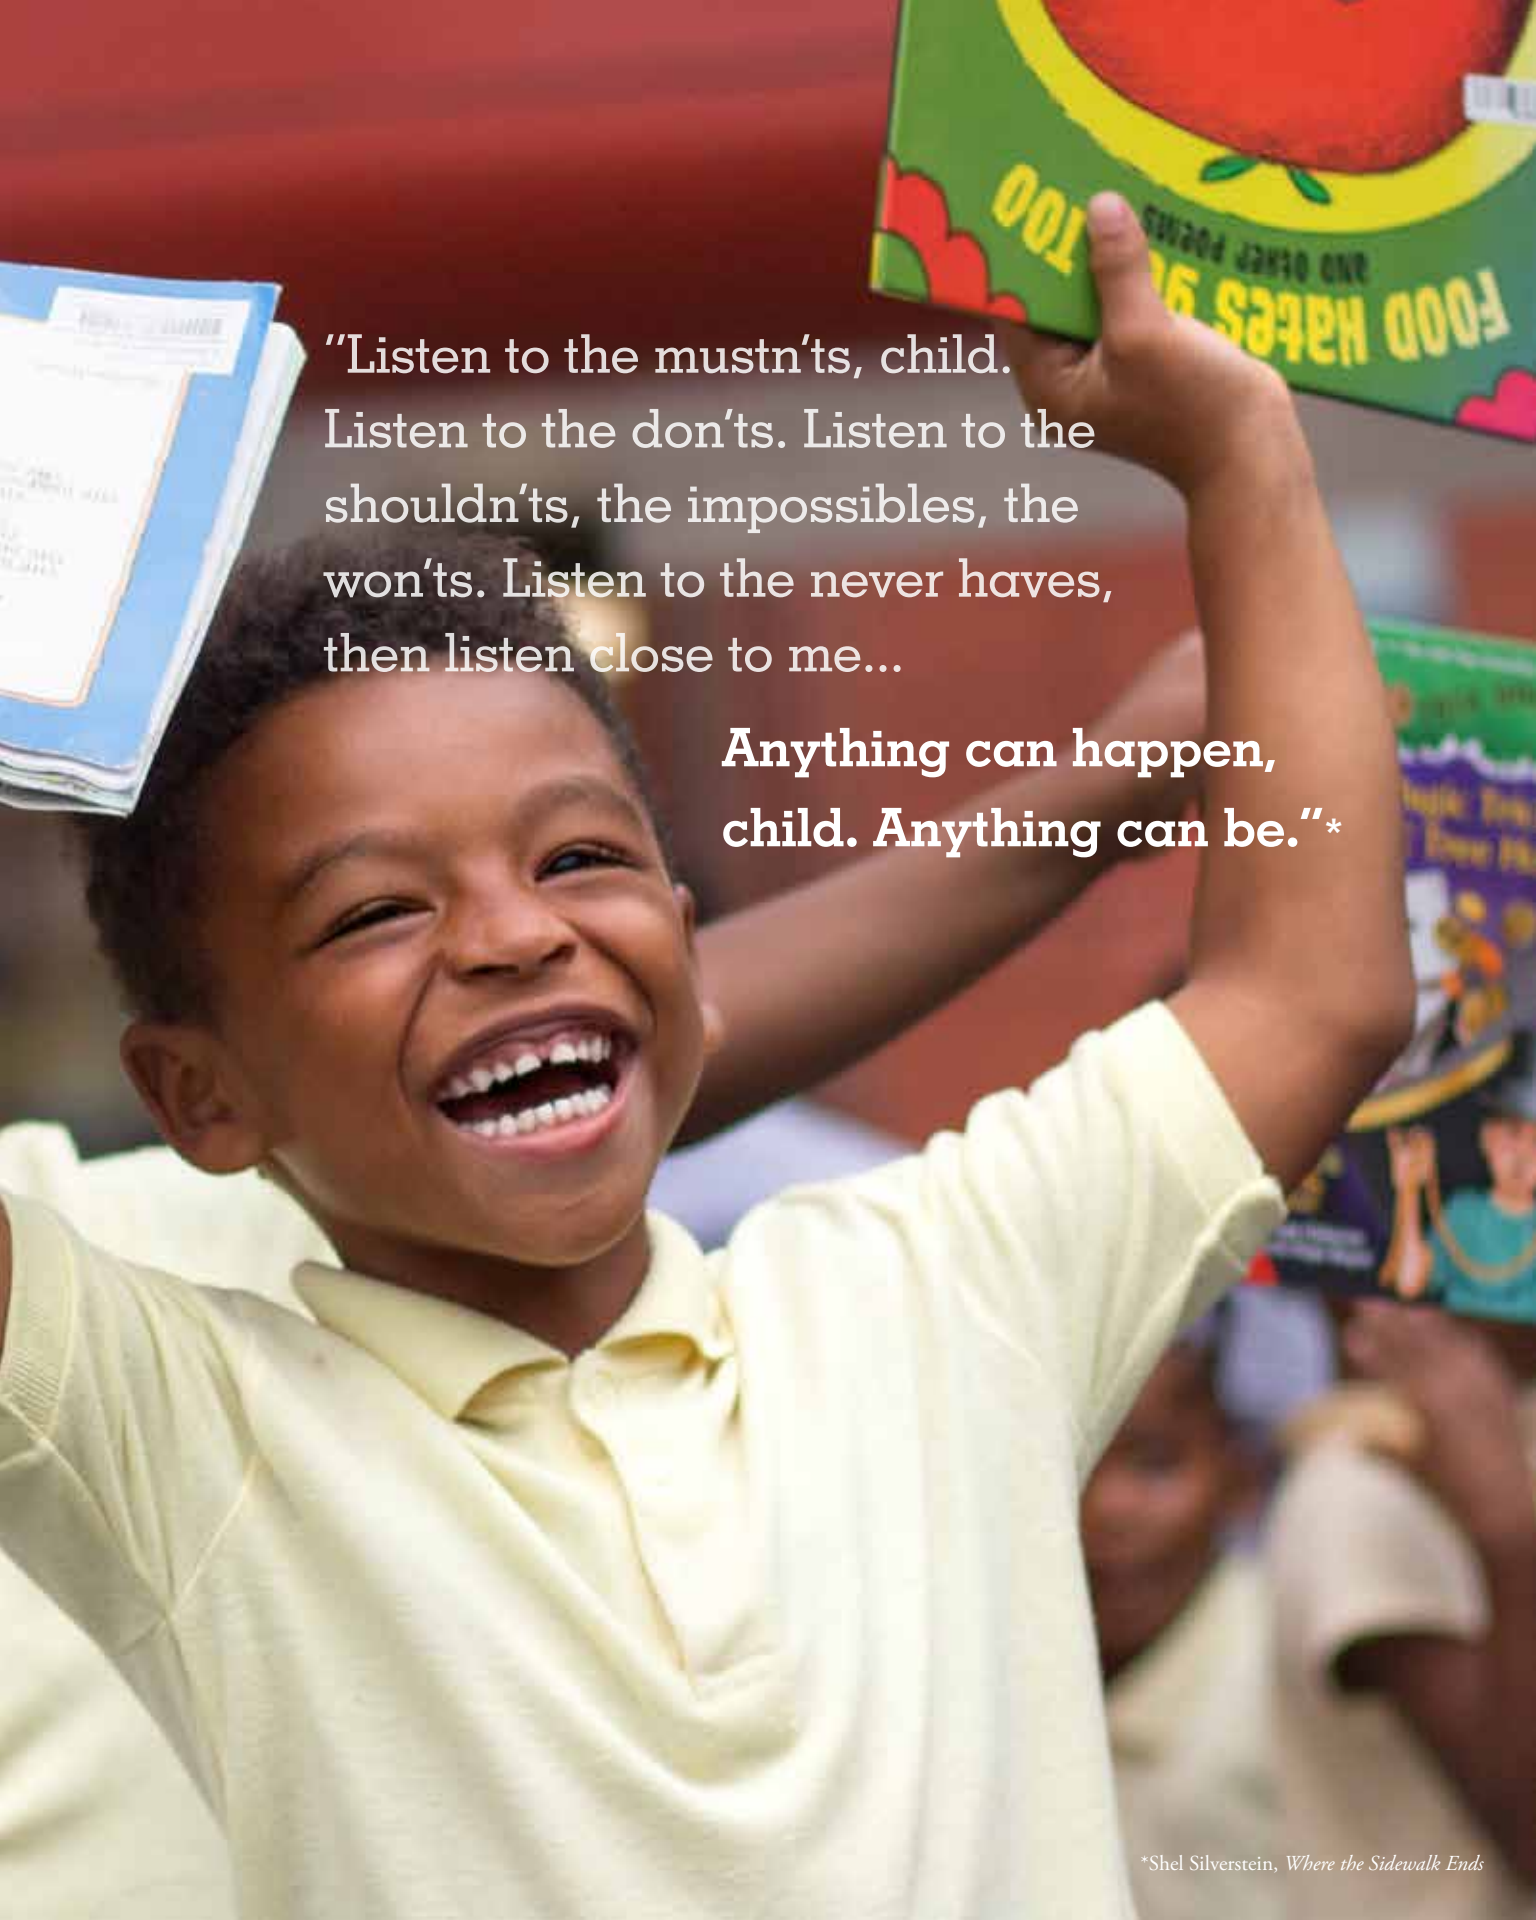

What's possible when individuals, community institutions and schools come together around a common goal? 368,000 books distributed in one year. More than 75,000 children with books to call their own. And we're just getting started. I thank you for the incredible support you have given in the past to make this possible, and without reservation, I encourage you to keep giving! Give of your time, your resources and your books. I promise you won't be disappointed by what's possible.

With deep appreciation,

Mark Feiring

A young boy with dark skin and short hair is laughing heartily, his mouth wide open showing his teeth. He is wearing a light yellow polo shirt. His arms are raised high, holding two books. The book in his right hand is green with a large red apple illustration and the text 'FOOD HATES 99 AND OTHER POEMS TOO'. The book in his left hand is blue with a white label. The background is a blurred red wall.

"Listen to the mustn'ts, child.
Listen to the don'ts. Listen to the shouldn'ts, the impossibles, the won'ts. Listen to the never haves, then listen close to me...

Anything can happen, child. Anything can be."

A young girl with long, wavy brown hair is the central figure. She is wearing a light pink, short-sleeved shirt. She is looking off-camera to her left with a slight smile. The background is a blurred library setting with tall bookshelves filled with books of various colors. In the foreground, there are some colorful papers or books on a table.

The Maryland Book Bank (MBB) seeks to bridge the literacy gap through increased access to quality age-appropriate books in homes, classrooms and community settings. We do so by equipping students, parents, teachers and local organizations with the power to choose age-appropriate books to build their own libraries.

Stories we

“The Book Bank has given my family the greatest gift, which is the love of reading. Every visit brings so much excitement, and we are so grateful to the staff and volunteers for all that they do. My family takes home about 60 books each month to read and enjoy at home. My kids’ reading habits since visiting the Book Bank remind me of Dr. Seuss’ “Green Eggs and Ham.”

‘They will read them in their bed, they will read them on my head. They will read them one by one, they will read them by the ton!’” – Book Bank parent

“The Maryland Book Bank has been an amazing partner over the last three years. Through my membership at the Book Bank, I have been able to provide thousands of books to students at a west Baltimore elementary school as part of my home library program. Each student may choose 3-5 books per month to take home and keep from a monthly selection of hundreds of gently used books sourced primarily through the Book Bank. This past school year alone, I distributed over 3,500 books to students and supplied classrooms with over 700 books to round out their libraries. I have even been able to fulfill special requests from the students for books they have on their wish lists thanks to the extensive selection available at the Book Bank. Thank you, Maryland Book Bank!”

– Book Bank teacher

“I can’t believe I have so many books today!
This is my favorite day ever!”

The Book Bank set out to distribute 300,000 books this year, and thanks to the support of our donors and volunteers, we exceeded our goal, distributing more than 360,000 books.

Bookmobile

The Ravens Bookmobile is our year-round community ambassador, taking hundreds of books at a time directly to children at their schools, rec centers and other community spaces. The Bookmobile was busy in 2018:

In addition to distributing more than 3,000 books for free to the children attending the Baltimore Book Festival this year, our marketing and outreach resulted in three large donations and two volunteer groups visiting the Book Bank.

The Bookmobile was a welcome addition to three Belvedere Square Market “Summer Sounds” concerts. In total, 650 children and their families took home books from these events. We gained a lot of new friends and visibility among the concert goers, many of whom later visited the Book Bank to select or donate more books!

Our beloved free mobile bookstore was also in attendance for Target Nights at the Port Discovery Children’s Museum, a popular event that enables families to visit Port Discovery at a reduced fee and take home two free books. 750 children visited the Bookmobile during the Target Nights and took home 1,500 books! One parent remarked that she brought her children to Port Discovery specifically for the Bookmobile after a visit to their school.

Recreation Centers Served

In a great new partnership with Baltimore City’s Recreation Centers, 3,000 children received books from the Bookmobile, and each recreation center received a permanent library collection of 50 books. Thanks to a new grant from the Baltimore Children and Youth Fund, we’ll be able to serve all recreation centers in summer 2019 as well.

Home Library Program

In October 2018, we launched our expanded Home Library Program, in partnership with Baltimore City Schools and Raising a Reader. This program sends students home with 20 new books over the course of a school year. The Bookmobile made its first visit to 11 Baltimore City Literacy Blueprint schools in October and will visit again in the Spring 2019.

1,800 students each selected 10 books in October and will select another 10 in the spring. Students chose from over 3,000 high interest, age appropriate books including picture, chapter and non-fiction books.

This year we expanded from serving just 2nd grade to providing books for grades 1-3.

Raising a Reader engages families of Pre-K and kindergarten students in literacy activities. By partnering with Raising a Reader and Baltimore City Schools, we can ensure that parents are getting the support they need to encourage a lifelong love of reading well beyond kindergarten.

For less than $15.00 we can fully stock a child's home library.

It costs the Book Bank just $6.30 per child to distribute ten books and a Book Bank cinch sack.

A Warehouse of Possibilities

Our New Warehouse Neighbors

In March 2018, we moved into a new warehouse in the Union Mill area.

In addition to giving us much-needed room to grow, the new warehouse has a dedicated loading dock so we can accept truckloads of donated and discounted books for the first time. We are thrilled to now be co-located with other inspiring nonprofits who share our mission of ensuring that children and teachers have what they need to succeed. Our new neighbors include: Bedtime in a Box, Leveling the Playing Field, Teacher Supply Swap, School Colors and Break a Difference.

We Love our Volunteers

The new warehouse space gives us more room to host groups of our dedicated volunteers. In total, 360 people volunteered with the Book Bank in 2018.

On Books for Kids Day in May, our amazing volunteers collected and sorted more than 20,000 books to stock our shelves and Bookmobile.

Room to Grow = More Jobs for Baltimore

Our social enterprise book sales program does more than fuel free books for children in the community—it provides jobs and job training for adults. In 2018, our partnership with the Mayor's Office of Employment Development (OED) allowed the Book Bank to host 10 trainees to learn warehousing skills that can be used in any warehouse environment. Our move to the new warehouse also created the need for two more positions on our warehouse team, and we were thrilled to hire two more of our OED trainees.

Beyond providing valuable job training and employment, our book sales operation provides vital unrestricted revenue. We have also continued our mutually beneficial consignment relationships with local libraries to provide funding for their Friends programs as well as for the Book Bank.

Help us Write the Next Chapter

Volunteer

Volunteers are the lifeblood of the Maryland Book Bank. Stop by the warehouse at 1794 Union Ave. on Wednesdays, Fridays and Saturdays, or email Kim at kcrout@marylandbookbank.org to set up a special volunteer event or regular schedule.

Donate

Give your beloved books a second life! Donate your new and gently used books of all kinds to our warehouse, or host a book donation drive at your school, job or place of worship. We'll provide the materials and make it fun for your community.

Give

More than 200 schools have requested a visit from the Bookmobile, so it's time to grow! Make a financial contribution to the Maryland Book Bank to support our operations and help us reach even more children in Baltimore City and the surrounding counties.
